Mr Darren Hunter

Darren worked for Templar Communications Ltd from June 2009 to April 2010 in the position of Web Programmer.

His duties included the programming of web pages using HTML and ASP.NET linked to database systems. He also provided support to users and the development team in terms of server and PC configuration and the running of the network.

He always carried out his duties well with competence and good spirit. Darren is cheerful, easy to work with and willing to do whatever is required in a team environment.

Darren lost his position here as a result of redundancy forced upon us by economic circumstances and the subsequent repositioning of the business. I would be happy to recommend him to any future employer.

If you need any further information, please don't hesitate to contact me.
